Spoke with in a follow up on the Donovan matter. Not for publication, is the fact that the Group has a long history with this guy and suspects employees (current and former) are communicating with him. In attempts to monitor this, has initiated an IT project to monitor internal e-mails from Shell servers globally to Donovan and is also monitoring web traffic to determine internal traffic to their website. There is history of several former employees taking internal laundry to Donovan also, internal e-mails have appeared on his website.
